Report of the School Board.

Esteemed Citizens:

Education has a threefold significance in its adaptation to mankind in a positive, comparative and superlative degree. All must make the elementary stage their basis of action and some are content and others compelled by force of circumstances to make but little advance from that position; while large numbers are fairly equipped to meet the demands of life's service and not a few have become proficient and eminent in their scholarship and literary attainments.

The educational interests of man are only subordinate to vital principle and normal mental and physical energy which ought to be more largely developed, applied and appreciated. It is a pensive lament that the star of intellectual enlightenment has not yet sent its cheering rays into all sections, the darkness to dispel, but the curtain is surely rising and some welcome day a flood of light will enter in. Success will follow well directed effort, though sometimes long delayed.

Our town has been well provided with funds for schools the past year. Schools have been maintained in four of our houses with three terms in each. The teachers employed have not all been successful in the highest degree, but some of them, however, possess qualifications which in application have proven successful to a pleasing issue.

The uniting with Greenville in school interests at No. 6 has been continued the past year with mutual benefit.

Our several school houses are now in good repair and well renovated.

Harpers (new edition) geographies have been introduced into our schools and are producing good results.

As in years past, the conveyance of some of our pupils has been continued, which has proven largely feasible or practical in its results.

As there is a considerable surplus of unexpended money in the district treasury, we thought, in justice, if not in conformity to the letter of statute law, that the books and supplies which have been purchased for our schools should be paid for from said surplus, which has been done to the amount as stated in the treasurer's report. We trust that our action will receive the commendation of our constituency.

Although our pupils have not all in full measure received the benefits obtainable, yet it is apparent that their plastic minds are being developed by their efforts and receptive impress which we hope will be continued with large attainments in learning and true success.

Our hearts should respond with gratitude that a benign Providence has dealt so gently with our pupilage, that no serious epidemic has been pervasive, nor "shining mark" removed.

With confidence that the educational chariots will continue their progress with unabated celerity, we do, with modesty, subscribe ourselves as
